THE EXPERIENCE

Once you've taken in the breathtaking grandeur of Santa Clara, you will enjoy three full and two half shooting days from Estancia Santa Clara involving 8 sessions for doves, pigeons, perdiz and ducks.

Each day after a full breakfast, you'll only have a short drive to a productive field or lagoon for ducks, doves, pigeons or perdiz. There are 50,000 on-property acres offering ten different duck lagoons/ponds, three sanctuary lakes offering refuse for the ducks. They also offer good volume dove/pigeon shooting on one their many feedlots and or roosts. The partridge shooting here at Santa Clara is the best in the country and their kennel of dogs is exceptional.

After the morning shoot you will come back to the lodge for a full lunch, or if the weather cooperates, an asado out back with the fire pits ablaze. After lunch your group will proceed with an afternoon shoot on a different species for the day. We must stress that drive times are short so programs can be flexible depending on the needs of each group.

ACCOMMODATION

The historic Chateau Santa Clara is one of Uruguay's most remarkable sporting estates. Built in 1903 by Arturo Heber Jackson, this magnificent French-style castle was constructed entirely with materials imported from Europe, including its distinctive ironwork crafted in France.

Today, the château remains the home of the Jackson family, with every room reflecting generations of history, tradition, and hospitality. From the 8 unique suites to the impressive library inspired by Versailles and the celebrated gun room, the estate offers a unique glimpse into a bygone era.

Guests enjoy exceptional accommodation, outstanding cuisine, and warm family hospitality. Traditional Uruguayan dishes are prepared using century-old recipes and the finest local ingredients, while world-class wines are served in the estate's beautiful wine cellar. Culinary experiences are led by Nilson Viazzo, winner of MasterChef Uruguay, whose passion and creativity elevate every meal.

Santa Clara is more than a lodge—it is a timeless sporting retreat where history, elegance, and authentic Uruguayan tradition come together.
